

Farwest

Metal Solutions

Delivering Quality Metal Solutions That Drive Customer Success

Since 1956, Farwest has been the premium metals solution choice within the greater Western United States. Farwest's products and services offer customers the ability to consolidate many suppliers into one effective solution.

© Cameron Brown Photography

Broad Sourcing

Our vast inventory includes, but not limited to, carbon, alloy, and stainless plate; flat roll products, floor plate, merchant bars, tubing, pipe, beams, cold finish bars, grating, and expanded metal. Farwest stocks thousands of shapes and sizes, including hard-to-find lengths and grades from our established domestic and international supply base.

Farwest owns and operates a fleet of tractor trailers and coordinates with a network of preferred carriers. Farwest can deliver on time anywhere in the United States.

Local relationships

Farwest distribution centers maintain an extensive inventory, with a special focus on the products most needed in each service area. Outstanding local customer service is a result of establishing long-term relationships in each region. Same-day or next-day local service is only one part of the picture.

Simplify your sourcing needs by taking advantage of Farwest's diverse product offerings. Farwest's broad domestic and international sourcing network is capable of providing stock items, when you need them.

© Cameron Brown Photography

Diverse Capabilities & Precision

In addition to a vast product offering, Farwest boasts one of the largest processing capabilities of any single steel service center on the West Coast.

Capabilities include flame cutting, HyDefinition plasma cutting, flat laser cutting, structural laser cutting, beveling, shearing, saw cutting, punching, kitting, and kanban programs.

Expert operators are equipped with the latest technology to produce high quality parts. Farwest produces to tolerances designed to ensure your quality expectations will be met.

Quality products and a wide array of processing capabilities are the first steps to meeting your needs. From manufacturers to structural fabricators the innovative team at Farwest will deliver metal solutions to ensure your success. Products, processing, problem solving – all in one place with on time delivery.

It's all at Farwest.

Custom shapes, when you need them.

Vertical Strength

Beyond operating a full line distribution service center with unmatched first stage processing equipment, Farwest also provides second and third stage processing.

Partnering with Farwest's Advanced Processing Group can provide manufacturing support that will allow you to consolidate your supply base and quickly help scale your operation to changing demands.

Capabilities include forming, rolling, and welding sub assemblies combined with the resources to coordinate machining, painting, galvanizing, and powder coating.

Conveniently located Advanced Processing equipment, near Farwest's broad range of steel products, improves overall speed to market to meet your timeframe.

Reinforcing

Complete Package

Our strategically located facilities, full range of products, and decades of experience make Farwest the ideal partner for your reinforced concrete projects. From standard reinforcing, to wire mesh, high-strength reinforcing, epoxy coated rebar, post-tension cables, and mechanical splices Farwest can provide all your reinforced concrete construction needs.

As pioneers in the manufacturing of epoxy-coated rebar, Farwest can also provide corrosion resistant construction solutions in stainless-steel, fiberglass rebar (FRP), galvanized reinforcing as well as a wide range of alternative mill grades.

Farwest will support your project with comprehensive estimating and detailing, on-time deliveries and first class project management that comes from decades of experience.

In the field, Farwest can provide your team with a complete installed package. With a focused effort on quality and safety, your project will be completed on time and within budget.

Best practices have earned Farwest a reputation for excellent service.

Farwest is the preeminent metal solution provider in the Western United States

Visit www.farweststeel.com for product, service & location information

