FORMING

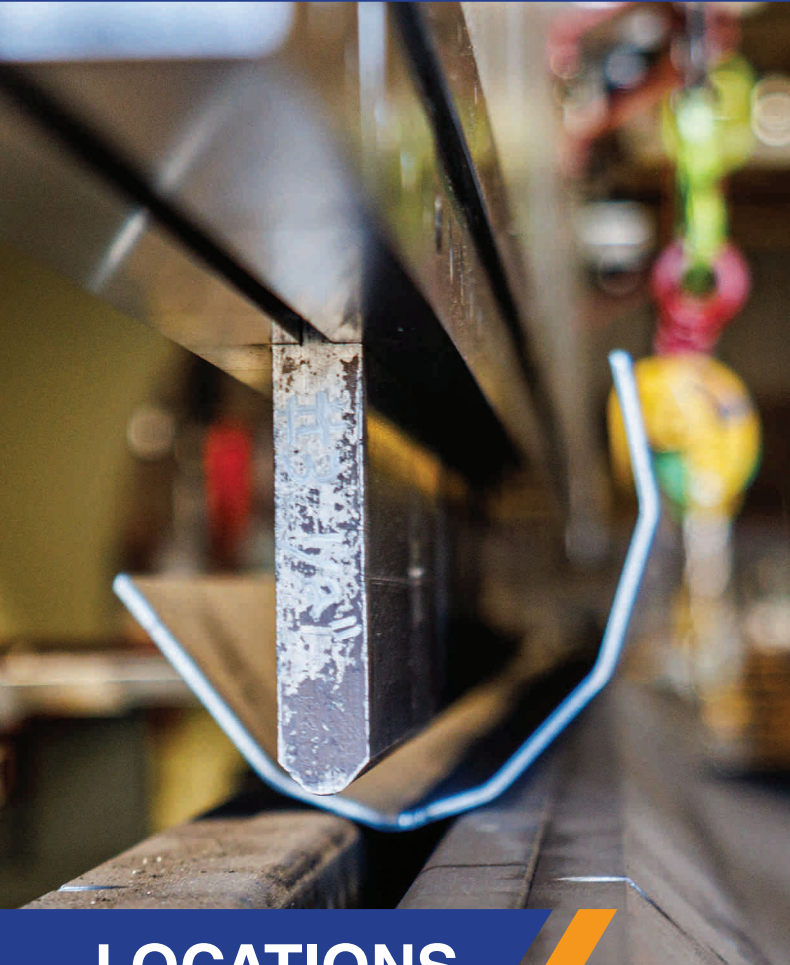

In business since 1956, Farwest Steel possesses one of the widest ranges of press brake capabilities on the West Coast. From 60' forming to precision tolerances to small brackets, Farwest forming offers quality production at scale. With adjustable dies for tooling, Farwest can change between jobs faster and safer, keeping you on budget and on schedule.

Uniquely positioned, Farwest processes are vertically integrated—designed to improve lead time and reduce costs. Farwest can level coil, process leveled sheet and plate using HyDefinition Plasma or laser tables, and form parts—all in one facility.

Farwest has the largest forming capacity and range of any single service center on the West Coast.
